4 Officials Plead Guilty to Mail Fraud Charge

TEN PLEAD NOT GUILTY IN ST. PAUL FEDERAL COURT

2 COMPANIES CHARGED WITH BILKING INVESTORS IN DOZEN STATES

CHARGED FRAUDULENT STOCK SALES CAUSED LOSSES OF $2,500,000

St. Paul, Minn., April 7.—(U.P.)—Four of 14 officials and employees of two companies charged by the government with bilking investors in a dozen states through fraudulent stock sales of $2,500,000 pleaded guilty to mail fraud charges today in federal court.

The ten other persons formerly connected with the companies pleaded not guilty. Arraignment of the 14 defendants ended two years of investigation by federal and state authorities.

Those who pleaded guilty were Frank Moxham of Excelsior, Minn., vice president; Max H. Nofstain of Minneapolis; H. H. Carlisle of Detroit and N. H. Bernstein of Chicago, all of the Diamond Motor Parts Company of St. Cloud, Minn.

Charles Henke, vice-president of the Ten Thousand Lakes Fur Farms Corporation, the other company charged with fraudulent securities sales, pleaded not guilty, as did nine former salesmen of the motor parts firm.

The motor parts company salesmen who pleaded not guilty were Elmer J. Smith of Chicago; Verner W. Schlender of Chicago; Albert Pollak of Peoria, Ill.; J. J. Figman of Chicago; L. J. Ascher of Chicago; A. J. Sugar of Chicago; G. G. Baumbart of Chicago; G. H. Van Cleve of Chicago and Chas. Fried of Chicago.

Three who have surrendered and are to be arraigned later are N. J. Himelstein, Chicago; C. A. Widling, Salt Lake City, and E. F. Cumpert, Chicago.

Sale of securities in the defunct Motor Parts Company is said by the government to have cost investors in a dozen states more than $2,000,000.

Nearly a year ago indictments were returned against 29 officials and salesmen of the company. One of the indictments subsequently was dismissed.

Judge Sanborn indicated that the nine salesmen pleading not guilty will go on trial sometime this month, but he did not set a definite trial date.

Another person charged with mail fraud, Charles Henke, vice president of the defunct 10,000 Lakes Fur Farms Corporation, pleaded not guilty before Judge Sanborn.

The case of Henke, one-time deputy state game and fish commissioner, was continued. The cases of none of the other defendants were called.

Eighteen officials and salesmen of the fur farms company were indicted June 8, 1930, on charges of using the mails in furtherance of an alleged scheme to defraud.

Albert A. Robbins, former president, and F. P. O'Malley, former secretary, pleaded guilty last month, but sentence was deferred pending outcome of the cases against the others.

R. V. French, assistant United States attorney, has been assigned to prosecute the case on behalf of the government. Trial of the defendants will climax an investigation by postal inspectors and department of justice agents under way for the past year.

The investigation resulted in the indictment of 29 officials and salesmen April 16 on charges of using mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud investors in the firm's securities.

Fourteen of the 29 indicted until today were free under bonds as follows: Elmer J. Smith, former president, $10,000.

Frank B. Moxham, treasurer, $5,000. Verner W. Schlender, former secretary-treasurer, $10,000.

H. J. Himelstein, alias H. J. Himel, $10,000.

Max M. Nofstain, alias M. Newton, $10,000.

Charles Fried, H. H. Carlisle, Albert Pollak, J. J. Figman, A. J. Sugar, S. H. Bernstein, B. F. Gumpert and G. C. Baumbart, $5,000 each.

C. A. Widling, $2,000.

Three others have made arrangements for posting bonds, while United States attorneys are searching for 11 defendants who are still missing.

Names of the defendants who have not yet been arrested will not be revealed by the government until they have been apprehended.

CERMAK CONTESTS WITH THOMPSON FOR MAYORALTY

ISSUE LIES IN HANDS OF MILLION OR MORE VOTERS OF CHICAGO

THOMPSON, DOMINATING CITY 12 YEARS, SEEKING HIS FOURTH TERM

By MERTON T. AKERS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, April 7.—Anton J. Cermak, who fought his way up from the coal mines, engaged Big Bill Thompson, "the old master," at the polls today with the mayorship of Chicago as the prize.

The issue lay in the hands of a million or perhaps more voters who before tonight must decide whether the cowboy mayor wins a fourth term as chief executive of the city he has dominated for 12 years, or is turned out of office.

In Cermak, long a democratic power but hardly known outside the state before the campaign, Thompson faced one of the major threats of his colorful political career.

Behind Cermak was the solid democratic party which last fall elected James Hamilton Lewis as senator by an overwhelming majority.

In the first irregularities reported, investigators for County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki descended upon a precinct voting place today and removed three women and two men from the election board as a precaution against fraud.

New officials took the place of the ousted board. Those removed were Michael Weinberg, clerk; David Ginochro, Mrs. Angie Podesto, judge; Mrs. Mattie Benson, and Mrs. Eleanor Pointer, judge.

Judge Jarecki, who heads the board of election commissioners, declared that when the same board served in the primary last March, "repeat" voting was permitted, and a list of doubtful voters was not kept.

The first report of election violence today came from the 12th precinct of the 13th ward, where the clerk of the election board declared four fights had occurred in five minutes as a result of voters being challenged.

Richard Fishman, a democratic precinct captain, was reported to have been kidnapped from a restaurant last night by two gunmen, but was safe at his home today.

Part of the city's press, ordinarily republican, swung its support to the democratic president of the Cook county board "to help him rid Chicago of Thompsonism."

The betting was five to two, with Big Bill on the short end. Straw votes conducted for the last several weeks conceded a majority of around 200,000 to Cermak.

Back of Thompson's campaign was the organization he had built up in 12 years in the city hall and which never had failed him as he fought his way to political heights with spectacular tactics.

As the polls opened at 6 A. M. under the eyes of 6,000 police and thousands of independent watchers, both candidates claimed a victory.

Thompson's managers estimated his majority at from 65,000 to 100,000, depending on the weather. Confident democrats claimed a majority of 300,000 or more, regardless of weather.

"Thompsonism" was the issue. Cermak's followers interpreted it as synonymous with "waste, extravagance and gang rule." Thompson called it "progress."

Thompson charged that Cermak was "immune from prosecution" and had accumulated $6,000,000 while head of the county board. He said that if elected Cermak would become a "dictator" of Chicago.

Extra precautions were taken to prevent violence. All available police, augmented by flying squadrons from the election commission and the state's attorney's office, were on duty.

Squatter and 7 Children Burn to Death in Their Log Cabin Home Near Gallipolis, Ohio

EIGHTH CHILD, 12 YEARS OLD, NEAR DEATH

JAMES WHITE, 59, AND CHILDREN RANGING 3 TO 20 YEARS, ARE VICTIMS

GEORGE, BADLY BURNED, GOES FOR HELP A QUARTER MILE AWAY

Gallipolis, O., April 7.—(U.P.)—James White, 59, a squatter, and seven of his eight children, were burned to death today when fire destroyed their log cabin 10 miles south of here.

The dead, in addition to White, are Mary, 20; James, 18; John, 14; Ira, 9; May, 5, and twin girls, Nora and Dora, aged 3. The eighth child, George, 12, was near death.

George, though semi-conscious from burns, escaped from the cabin and staggered and crawled to the home of Gilbert Lane, a quarter of a mile away, for help.

The cabin was in ruins when Gilbert and other neighbors arrived and the heat was so intense it was impossible to rescue the victims.

The family moved into the cabin as squatters last Friday after being ordered to leave Gallipolis. Cause of the fire was unknown. George lost consciousness after summoning Lane.

The fire broke out about 3 A. M. The cabin burned like dry tinder.

JURY DELIBERATES FLIPPY SHARE'S FATE

RACKETEER CHARGED WITH KILLING "DOC" MILLER, MILL CITY BOOKMAKER

Minneapolis, Minn., April 7.—(U.P.)—A district court jury today was deliberating the case of Phillip (Flippy) Share, a racketeer charged with the killing of Sam J. (Doc) Miller, Minneapolis bookmaker.

The jury retired at 11 P. M., last night after arguing for five hours without reaching a verdict. Deliberations were resumed today.

During the trial, Col. Calvin Goddard, Northwestern University ballistics expert, identified four bullets found in Miller's body as having been fired from a pistol discovered in Share's possession.

A ballistics expert called by the defense, however, testified that the bullets were not fired from Share's guns. Both experts based their testimony on marking on the bullets.

Share also is wanted in Columbia City, Ind., on charges of killing a bystander during a bank robbery.

Motor Truck Bill is Reported to the Senate Without Recommendation

St. Paul, April 7.—(U.P.)—A bill regulating motor truck freight lines passed by the house was reported out today without recommendation by the senate motor vehicle committee.

Under two amendments inserted by the committee, lines now being operated by railroads would be allowed to continue and other roads would be permitted to institute lines paralleling branch rail routes.

Senator Claude H. MacKenzie, Gaylord, announced he would ask a special order within the next ten days on the measure, which would call for fixing of motor freight rates on a level with rail hauling charges, prohibit railroads from going into the truck business and bond all lines to protect shippers.

Brown Believes Burke and Fleagel May Have Robbed Willmar Bank

St. Paul, April 7.—(U.P.)—C. D. Brown of the Minnesota Bankers' association said today he believed that Jack Fleagel and Fred Burke, two of the nation's most dangerous criminals, combined forces and robbed the bank of Willmar, Minn., last July 15 of $142,000.

Two of the bandits who terrified 25 employees and patrons of the bank with machine guns resembled Fleagel and Burke, Brown said.

Minnesota will make no attempt to gain extradition of Burke, who is under arrest in St. Joseph, Mich., charged with killing a policeman. Brown indicated. Fleagel, known as the "Wolf of the West," was killed while resisting capture in Missouri several months ago.

SEARCH FOR A PUBLISHER ENDS IN YUMA MORGUE

EXTENSIVE SEARCH FOR HUTTON BELLAH, OKLAHOMA, ENDS DRAMATICALLY

FEAR OF EXPOSURE AS BIGAMIST BELIEVED TO HAVE PROMPTED SUICIDE

Yuma, Ariz., April 7.—(U.P.)—An extensive search for Hutton Bellah, 35, formerly a prominent Oklahoma publisher, ended in a morgue here today where Bellah, known locally as William A. Lee, lay dead.

Fear of exposure as a bigamist is believed to have prompted the newspaperman to commit suicide by shooting himself through the head with a pistol.

Notes indicated that he was worried. One intended for Mrs. Lee, formerly Miss Edna Louise Schatz, a Plattville, Wis., music teacher, read: "I can't go on. I am sorry. I am not all bad."

Mrs. Lee, 25, was near collapse as she told a coroner's jury how the man she met and married as William A. Lee suddenly seized a pistol and after hastily scribbling three notes, ended his life.

"He went to the rear room to get some papers from a trunk," she said. "I heard a shot and remember shouting 'Don't.' But of course, it was too late."

The couple came here last October and Bellah bought control of the Yuma Evening Sentinel.

"He seemed to have something on his mind," said a friend who saw him Sunday at a Mexican resort just across the international line.

Bellah was editor and publisher of the Times-Democrat of Altus, Okla., until he sold it two years ago when he moved to California. Shortly afterward he disappeared.

A few hours after Bellah's suicide, Dr. C. A. Wright of Los Angeles telephoned to Earl A. Freeman, county coroner, saying he believed the man known as Lee was Bellah.

Dr. Wright said his wife was Mrs. Bellah's sister. He described Bellah and the description fitted Lee in practically all particulars.

Whereupon the young man bowed, pressed his fingertips to his lips and blew a kiss to Pufa. Then he leaped and was killed.

PROHIBITION GROUP OF THE DEMOCRATS SETS A BACKFIRE

DEMONSTRATES AGAINST THE EFFORTS OF NATIONAL CHAIRMAN RASKOB

LATTER SEEKS TO OBTAIN SHOW-DOWN ON THE WET-DRY SITUATION

By LYLE C. WILSON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 7.—Powerful prohibition forces in the democratic party have set a backfire against the efforts of Chairman Raskob of the national committee to obtain a showdown on the wet-dry issue.

Published reports of Raskob's appeal for an expression by committee members of opinions on policies indicated the chairman had surprised influential democrats who oppose him.

Inquiry, however, indicates some such move had been expected and efforts had been made to counteract its effect.

Plans to thwart Raskob apparently are informal so far, but the United Press is informed they are expected to develop into a systematic counteraction of the chairman's program.

The opinion is spreading among the prohibition or "anti-strife" group that Raskob's appeal for expressions of committee opinion will discover a majority against him.

Senator Hull, democrat, Tennessee, former chairman of the national committee, apparently foresaw Raskob's next move some days ago. Just ahead of the chairman's letter, Hull circulated members of the committee with a plea for consideration of economic problems.

"Economic problems," says the caption above the circular, including tariff and commercial policy, should come first on any democratic national party program during the next two years."

"It appears," Hull continued, "that the preponderance of wet and dry opinion is against the program proposed by Mr. Raskob."

Although he did not outline the scope of other efforts such as his own to persuade democratic committee members to repudiate the chairman on the liquor question, he said that "in due time it will develop more systematically."

As we were descending the flight of stone steps from the road to my house, I had a sudden dizzy spell and did a regular dive down the steps on my face."

Miss Moran suffered numerous cuts and bruises about her arms and shoulders, both of her eyes were bruised and her nose was broken in two places, it was reported.

UNCONSCIOUS CHILD TAKEN FROM RIVER BY BRANDOW BOYS

WAS LYING SUBMERGED IN THE WATER, FACE UPWARDS, 20 FEET FROM SHORE

PLAYMATES' CRIES ATTRACT BOYS ON OTHER SIDE OF RIVER WHO CRY FOR HELP

Physicians watched closely over Donald Stone, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stone, 119 Kingwood street, to safeguard him from pneumonia, after he had been rescued from the Mississippi river by Clyde Brandow, 17, and Ray Brandow, 15, today.

The brothers hearing screams of children for help rushed to the river and plunged in, pulling the unconscious form of Donald to the shore.

The near drowning occurred at 10:15 A. M. at the west end of Juniper street on the east side of the river.

Little Donald was lying submerged on his back in the water, his face blue, when the Brandow boys rescued him. He had been in the water for several minutes.

His little playmate, Phoebe Jean Anderson, two and a half-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Anderson, 113 Kingwood street, was the only one near Donny when he stumbled into the river. She was sitting on the bank. Her feeble cries were heard by boys on the other side of the river who started screaming for help.

Mrs. W. Bane heard the cries but at first thought the boys were shouting because they had killed a crow.

The Brandow boys, fortunately, were at home. They ran down the hill through heavy mud and then jumped into the mud of the river.

Little Phoebe Jean walked along the bank crying.

With the little boy rescued the Brandow brothers started resuscitation. Little by little water came from the lips of the Stone boy. After five minutes of effort the child started breathing again. Color came back to his face.

By this time a score of people had gathered on the bank of the river. Mrs. Stone was among the first to come. Later Mr. Stone came. Mrs. Anderson hugged her child.

Drs. J. A. Thabes Jr. and L. F. Hawkins gave the boy additional first aid. A blanket was produced and Mr. Stone carried Donny in it to the Stone home.

Donny is presumed to have slipped into the water, then got stuck in the mud and slipped down the slope in the bottom of the river. He was about 20 feet from shore when rescued.

The Brandow boys live at 409 North Second street.

Starting their foray in Minneapolis, the bandits obtained $9 from an oil station, $8.50 from a pedestrian and $72.85 at a cafe. Then they headed for St. Paul where they obtained $10 in a Western Union Telegraph company office and $21.60 from an oil station.

As they left the oil station, the bandits ripped a telephone from a pay station booth, evidently to obtain the coins from it.

Thompson's managers estimated his majority at from 65,000 to 100,000, depending on the weather. Confident democrats claimed a majority of 300,000 or more, regardless of weather.

"Thompsonism" was the issue. Cermak's followers interpreted it as synonymous with "waste, extravagance and gang rule." Thompson called it "progress."

Thompson charged that Cermak was "immune from prosecution" and had accumulated $6,000,000 while head of the county board. He said that if elected Cermak would become a "dictator" of Chicago.

Extra precautions were taken to prevent violence. All available police, augmented by flying squadrons from the election commission and the state's attorney's office, were on duty.

Squatter and 7 Children Burn to Death in Their Log Cabin Home Near Gallipolis, Ohio

EIGHTH CHILD, 12 YEARS OLD, NEAR DEATH

JAMES WHITE, 59, AND CHILDREN RANGING 3 TO 20 YEARS, ARE VICTIMS

GEORGE, BADLY BURNED, GOES FOR HELP A QUARTER MILE AWAY

Gallipolis, O., April 7.—(UP)—James White, 59, a squatter, and seven of his eight children, were burned to death today when fire destroyed their log cabin 10 miles south of here.

The dead, in addition to White, are Mary, 20; James, 18; John, 14; Ira, 9; May, 5, and twin girls, Nora and Dora, aged 3. The eighth child, George, 12, was near death.

George, though semi-conscious from burns, escaped from the cabin and staggered and crawled to the home of Gilbert Lane, a quarter of a mile away, for help.

The cabin was in ruins when Gilbert and other neighbors arrived and the heat was so intense it was impossible to rescue the victims.

The family moved into the cabin as squatters last Friday after being ordered to leave Gallipolis. Cause of the fire was unknown. George lost consciousness after summoning Lane.

The fire broke out about 3 A. M. The cabin burned like dry tinder.

JURY DELIBERATES FLIPPY SHARE'S FATE

RACKETEER CHARGED WITH KILLING "DOC" MILLER, MILL CITY BOOKMAKER

Minneapolis, Minn., April 7.—(UP)—A district court jury today was deliberating the case of Phillip (Flippy) Share, a racketeer charged with the killing of Sam J. (Doc) Miller, Minneapolis bookmaker.

The jury retired at 11 P. M. last night after arguing for five hours without reaching a verdict. Deliberations were resumed today.

During the trial, Col. Calvin Goddard, Northwestern University ballistics expert, identified four bullets found in Miller's body as having been fired from a pistol discovered in Share's possession.

A ballistics expert called by the defense, however, testified that the bullets were not fired from Share's guns. Both experts based their testimony on markings on the bullets.

Share also is wanted in Columbia City, Ind. on charges of killing a bystander during a bank robbery.

Motor Truck Bill is Reported to the Senate Without Recommendation

St. Paul, April 7.—(UP)—A bill regulating motor truck freight lines passed by the house was reported out today without recommendation by the senate motor vehicle committee.

Under two amendments inserted by the committee, lines now being operated by railroads would be allowed to continue and other roads would be permitted to institute lines paralleling branch rail routes.

Senator Claude H. MacKenzie, Gaylord, announced he would ask a special order within the next ten days on the measure, which would call for fixing of motor freight rates on a level with rail hauling charges, prohibit railroads from going into the truck business and bond all lines to protect shippers.

Brown Believes Burke and Fleagel May Have Robbed Willmar Bank

St. Paul, April 7.—(UP)—C. D. Brown of the Minnesota Bankers' association said today he believed that Jack Fleagel and Fred Burke, two of the nation's most dangerous criminals, combined forces and robbed the bank of Willmar, Minn., last July 15 of $142,000.

Two of the bandits who terrified 25 employees and patrons of the bank with machine guns resembled Fleagel and Burke, Brown said.

Minnesota will make no attempt to gain extradition of Burke, who is under arrest in St. Joseph, Mich., charged with killing a policeman. Brown indicated, Fleagel, known as the "Wolf of the West," was killed while resisting capture in Missouri several months ago.

SEARCH FOR A PUBLISHER ENDS IN YUMA MORGUE

EXTENSIVE SEARCH FOR HUTTON BELLAH, OKLAHOMA, ENDS DRAMATICALLY

FEAR OF EXPOSURE AS BIGAMIST BELIEVED TO HAVE PROMPTED SUICIDE

Yuma, Ariz., April 7.—(UP)—An extensive search for Hutton Bellah, 35, formerly a prominent Oklahoma publisher, ended in a morgue here today where Bellah, known locally as William A. Lee, lay dead.

Fear of exposure as a bigamist is believed to have prompted the newspaperman to commit suicide by shooting himself through the head with a pistol.

Notes indicated that he was worried. One intended for Mrs. Lee, formerly Miss Edna Louise Schatz, a Platteville, Wis., music teacher, read:

"I can't go on. I am sorry. I am not all bad."

Mrs. Lee, 25, was near collapse as she told a coroner's jury how the man she met and married as William A. Lee suddenly seized a pistol and after hastily scribbling three notes, ended his life.

"He went to the rear room to get some papers from a trunk," she said. "I heard a shot and remember shouting 'Don't.' But of course, it was too late."

The couple came here last October and Bellah bought control of the Yuma Evening Sentinel.

"He seemed to have something on his mind," said a friend who saw him Sunday at a Mexican resort just across the international line.

Bellah was editor and publisher of the Times-Democrat of Altus, Okla., until he sold it two years ago when he moved to California. Shortly afterward he disappeared.

A few hours after Bellah's suicide, Dr. C. A. Wright of Los Angeles telephoned to Earl A. Freeman, county coroner, saying he believed the man known as Lee was Bellah.

Dr. Wright said his wife was Mrs. Bellah's sister. He described Bellah and the description fitted Lee in practically all particulars.

VAINLY TRIES TO DETER SUICIDE

New York, April 7.—(UP)—Peter Pufa of Brooklyn was walking past the Hotel New Yorker when some sixth sense told him to look up.

He saw standing on a window ledge on the eighth floor a young man clad in dinner clothes.

"For God's sake, don't jump!" Pufa screamed at the youth, waving his arms frantically.

Whereupon the young man bowed, pressed his fingertips to his lips and blew a kiss to Pufa. Then he leaped and was killed.

PROHIBITION GROUP OF THE DEMOCRATS SETS A BACKFIRE

DEMONSTRATES AGAINST THE EFFORTS OF NATIONAL CHAIRMAN RASKOB

LATTER SEEKS TO OBTAIN SHOWDOWN ON THE WET-DRY SITUATION

By LYLE C. WILSON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 7.—Powerful prohibition forces in the democratic party have set a backfire against the efforts of Chairman Raskob of the national committee to obtain a showdown on the wet-dry issue.

Published reports of Raskob's appeal for an expression by committee members of opinions on policies indicated the chairman had surprised influential democrats who oppose him. Inquiry, however, indicates some such move had been expected and efforts had been made to counteract its effect.

Plans to thwart Raskob apparently are informal so far, but the United Press is informed they are expected to develop into a systematic counteraction of the chairman's program. The opinion is spreading among the prohibition or "anti-strife" group that Raskob's appeal for expressions of committee opinion will discover a majority against him.

Senator Hull, democrat, Tennessee, former chairman of the national committee, apparently foresaw Raskob's next move some days ago. Just ahead of the chairman's letter, Hull circulated members of the committee with a plea for consideration of economic problems.

"Economic problems," says the caption above the circular, including tariff and commercial policy, should come first on any democratic national party program during the next two years.

"It appears," Hull continued, "that the preponderance of wet and dry opinion is against the program proposed by Mr. Raskob."

Although he did not outline the scope of other efforts such as his own to persuade democratic committee members to repudiate the chairman on the liquor question, he said that "in due time it will develop more systematically."

Hollywood, April 7.—(UP)—Polly Moran, motion picture actress, is in the Hollywood hospital, it was learned today, recuperating from a broken nose and other injuries suffered when she fell down a flight of stairs at her Las Tunas beach house Sunday.

"I had gone to an early mass," Miss Moran was quoted as saying. "The church was crowded, and I was forced to stand throughout the services and was very tired. My mother, my son, and I walked home. As we were descending the flight of stone steps from the road to my house, I had a sudden dizzy spell and did a regular dive down the steps on my face."

Miss Moran suffered numerous cuts and bruises about her arms and shoulders, both of her eyes were bruised and her nose was broken in two places, it was reported.

OH THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Copyright 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Agnes: Trouble is that you women want rich poets, not business men. How is your husband going to be so good to you "in a money way" if he doesn't pay attention to business? Big eye poets with no money, unless they inherit it, are terrible husbands. They are always at home, which isn't as good as it sounds, especially when you have to move them from chair to chair while you sweep. When you want pork chops they recite Robert Browning, which, in a material world like this, isn't exactly a substitute. Better stick to friend husband and for heavens sake don't try to make a poet out of him. He's not the stuff that dreams are made of.

California: Women like that are matrimonial skin flints. What right have they to alimony? A woman who slams the door on her husband, her family and all her obligations deserves a lot of hard work—and only such money as she can earn. I don't blame the husband for spending it on himself and the children. He's a fine father and she's the kind of woman a man's parents usually object to at the time of the wedding. The money is going where it belongs—to the children.

Mary M.: Go ahead and sue him. Show his letters. What will that net you? If you want everybody to cast you out go ahead, but you won't ever belong anywhere after you do it. You took an indelible danger sign on yourself when you begin suing men for breach of anything and thereafter all men avoid you like they would the plague. Better think before it's too late.

A poor mother, crazed with dope, writing me to save her, to help her, to do something about her. She enclosed a doctor's certificate that he has never given her anything except a harmless medicine and treated her only for heart trouble. And the poor woman apologizes for having said that the doctor had given her dope only three times. "An awful mistake I made," she says (after talking to the doctor). "I shouldn't have said that about a fine man."

Poor devil! I wish her husband would take her to see Dr. Gerty at the Cook county hospital in Chicago and see if he can recommend anything to help her. She makes my heart ache every time I open her letters.

Miss H.: I am instructed that third cousins are not too closely related for marriage. The best thing to do is call a lawyer in your city and ask him for your state laws regarding such marriages. Don't be afraid, I think you are safe.

Mabel: You are going to cry yourself right out of a happy home. Dry your tears and take long walks and go to picture shows and try to get a happy smile to show your husband when he comes home. This spilled milk misery. Ruining so many homes, because women steadfastly refuse ever to forget an offense. It's your pride, not your heart that hurts and you have that "holier than thou" feeling in which you too take entirely too much pride. Jerk out of it. Buy some cheery Victrola records and play them when John comes home tonight. Drop the subject and don't ever bring it up again.

OH THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Copyright 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Agnes: Trouble is that you women want rich poets, not business men. How is your husband going to be so good to you "in a money way" if he doesn't pay attention to business? Big eye poets with no money, unless they inherit it, are terrible husbands. They are always at home, which isn't as good as it sounds, especially when you have to move them from chair to chair while you sweep. When you want pork chops they recite Robert Browning, which, in a material world like this, isn't exactly a substitute. Better stick to friend husband and for heavens sake don't try to make a poet out of him. He's not the stuff that dreams are made of.

California: Women like that are matrimonial skin flints. What right have they to alimony? A woman who slams the door on her husband, her family and all her obligations deserves a lot of hard work—and only such money as she can earn. I don't blame the husband for spending it on himself and the children. He's a fine father and she's the kind of woman a man's parents usually object to at the time of the wedding. The money is going where it belongs—to the children.

Mary M.: Go ahead and sue him. Show his letters. What will that net you? If you want everybody to cast you out go ahead, but you won't ever belong anywhere after you do it. You tack an indelible danger sign on yourself when you begin suing men for breach of anything and thereafter all men avoid you like they would the plague. Better think before it's too late.

A poor mother, crazed with dope, writing me to save her, to help her, to do something about her. She encloses a doctor's certificate that he has never given her anything except a harmless medicine and treated her only for heart trouble. And the poor woman apologizes for having said that the doctor had given her dope only three times. "An awful mistake I made," she says (after talking to the doctor). "I shouldn't have said that about a fine man!"

Poor devil. I wish her husband would take her to see Dr. Gerty at the Cook county hospital in Chicago and see if he can recommend anything to help her. She makes my heart ache every time I open her letters.

Miss H.: I am instructed that third cousins are not too closely related for marriage. The best thing to do is call a lawyer in your city and ask him for your state laws regarding such marriages. Don't be afraid, I think you are safe.

Mabel: You are going to cry yourself right out of a happy home. Dry your tears and take long walks and go to picture shows and try to get a happy smile to show your husband when he comes home. This spilled milk misery. Ruining so many homes, because women steadfastly refuse ever to forget an offense. It's your pride, not your heart that hurts and you have that "holier than thou" feeling in which you too take entirely too much pride. Jerk out of it. Buy some cheery Victrola records and play them when John comes home tonight. Drop the subject and don't ever bring it up again.

CLARA BOW IS RIDING RANGE

SEEKS REST AND QUIET NEAR LAS VEGAS, NEVADA, TODAY

Las Vegas, Nev., April 7.—(U.P.)—Clara Bow, screen star, was riding the cattle ranges near here today on a ranch owned by Rex Bell, her present suitor, and Earl Simpson.

She explained that she was seeking rest and quiet after three strenuous productions in Hollywood.

"It's a great relief to get away from Hollywood for a few days," Miss Bow declared. "I'm really enjoying myself here."

Miss Bow denied reports that she owned part of the ranch.

"Rex and Earl bought the property and are going to stock it with the finest cattle available," Clara said. "Mrs. Simpson and I came up from Hollywood a few days ago. I can take only a short vacation, for I have to start work on a new picture soon."

She said she was riding daily on Andy, a black cow pony.

This visit is the first Miss Bow has made to Nevada since her widely publicized gambling expedition at Calneva in the northern part of the state.

At that time she stopped payment on checks totalling more than $10,000. The checks were given for gambling losses.

St. Louis, April 7.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Cordell Jessen, mother of Leo Brothers, convicted slayer of Alfred Lingling, was home today from Chicago, prepared to sponsor a "public subscription campaign" designed to aid in further defense of her son.

Mrs. Jessen said the fund will be used to push an appeal for Brothers in event a new trial motion is not granted.

"I understood from Chicago friends that Al Capone is ready to help us," she said. "Moreover, Leo has many friends and well wishers among the public of St. Louis."

CLIMBED EVANSTON TREE TO SPY OUT LAY OF LAND IN CHICAGO

Evanston, Ill., April 7.—(U.P.)—Clyde O. Genter, Scotville, Mich., climbed down today from a tree in Dr. Frank O. Beck's yard, divested himself of a pair of binoculars, a shotgun and a .45 calibre revolver, and explained.

He came down because Sergeant Frank O. Henke was standing beneath in response to a summons from Dr. Beck.

Clyde showed Sergeant Henke a note signed by "Big Joe Saltis," the ex-Chicago beer baron who now is the resort king of Winter, Wis. The note read:

"Chief Alcock of Chicago: Kindly conduct the bearer safely through Chicago."

"Big Joe Saltis."

"I got it while I was working up at Winter," Clyde said.

"I had to go through Chicago to get back home and wanted protection. I climbed this tree to spy out the lay of the land. I didn't want the gangsters to see me first."

REPORTS OF FEDERAL FARM BOARD PASSING OUT ARE DENIED

Chicago, April 7.—(U.P.)—Reports that the Federal Farm board might pass out of existence are "premature," believes Alexander H. Legge, who resigned recently as chairman of the board to become president of the International Harvester company.

While Legge was speaking last night to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Farmers' National Grain corporation, affiliated with the farm board, issued a report showing that its net profits from operations for the fiscal year ending Feb. 28 were $666,266.84.

"I have been called a rat deserting a sinking ship, but I'm not a rat and the ship is not sinking," declared Legge.

"If anybody is contemplating sending flowers to the farm board's funeral, he will have to live a long time," Legge predicted business would "continue to stagnate" until farmers recover from their present plight and become consumers "in a big way."

Scenes in Quake-Ruined Managua

Dreadful pictures of the calamity which has overtaken the city of Managua, Nicaragua, devastated by earthquake and fire, are being reported. Latest reports indicate a death toll of more than 1,000, among whom are many Americans. Property damage has been placed at more than $40,000,000. It is feared that the entire city will have to be rebuilt. The affected area is patrolled by United States Marines, pictured above outside their barracks in a part of the city where the shock was most severe.

MODERN STYLE TO CHANGE COLOR OF HAIR FREQUENTLY

Chicago, April 7.—(U.P.)—Men this year may prefer blondes if they wish, and if they don't wish, they may select girls with purple, gold or platinum colored hair, according to an announcement by Max Hoefler, president of the State Hairdressers' association.

The style this year, Hoefler said, will be to change the color of the hair frequently and purple will be a favorite.

The changing is done, he explained, by spraying the hair and then fixing it with bronze powder.

"The powder is non-injurious to scalp or hair and can be removed the next day," he said. "The face will be rouged and the finger nails polished to match the color of hair and dress."

Wigs, Hoefler said, are out of favor, and the coloring process will be used widely. It is not altogether a new thing, he said, for even back in the day of King Solomon women colored their hair blue or gold.

Where Many Died in Quake

SHERIFF'S POSSE NEAR BARTON, O., SEARCH FOR THREE ROBBERS

Barton, O., April 7.—(U.P.)—A sheriff's posse was ordered out into the hills in this section today to search for three robbers who tortured an elderly reclus last night in an effort to learn the hiding place of a large sum of money believed secreted in his house.

Andy Yeland, 55, was discovered unconscious in the house today. His ears and fingernails had been partially torn off by his assailants after they were unable to learn the hiding place of $2,000 which he had recently received from the sale of real estate.

His condition was critical.

After regaining consciousness, Yeland, who lived alone, said the men invaded his home last night and ordered him to reveal where the money was hidden. When he told them it was in the bank they became infuriated, trussed him to the floor and began torturing him.

"One of the robbers held me, while the others began pulling at my fingernails with pliers. They then pinched my ears after I insisted the money was not in the house. I screamed from the pain but no one heard me. I then lapsed into unconsciousness."

Neighbors said they had heard screams from the house but suspected nothing. After their victim had become unconscious, the robbers ransacked the house and departed, without finding anything.

Yeland was able to furnish a fair description of his attackers to Sheriff Howard Duff, who ordered a posse to search the woods and hills in the vicinity.

Norfolk, Va., April 7.—(U.P.)—The fishing smack Yroma, lost since yesterday in fog 67 miles southeast of Cape Henry, was towed to Hampton, Va., today by the coast guard cutter Carrabasset. The Yroma and its crew of five men were safe. Engine trouble prevented the craft from returning to port under its own power.

ATTEMPTS TO IDENTIFY SUSPECTS FAILED

Memphis, Tenn., April 7.—(U.P.)—Minnesota officers were en route to their homes today after attempts to identify two men held here as principals in the payroll robbery and murder of a guard of the U. S. Steel corporation at Proctor, Minn., in May, 1929, had failed.

The charges were dropped against Harley Grizzell when officials at Leavenworth federal prison said Grizzell was in the prison at the time of the Proctor holdup. A witness who had identified George Reilly as one of the participants of the holdup failed to identify him today. The previous identity had been made by a newspaper picture.

Both Grizzell and Reilly and Charles Dove, with whom they were arrested here a short time ago, will be charged with pistol carrying charges which is punishable in Tennessee by a prison sentence not to exceed one year.

CLARA BOW IS RIDING RANGE

SEEKS REST AND QUIET NEAR LAS VEGAS, NEVADA, TODAY

Las Vegas, Nev., April 7.—(UP)—Clara Bow, screen star, was riding the cattle ranges near here today on a ranch owned by Rex Bell, her present suitor, and Earl Simpson.

She explained that she was seeking rest and quiet after three strenuous productions in Hollywood.

"It's a great relief to get away from Hollywood for a few days," Miss Bow declared. "I'm really enjoying myself here."

Miss Bow denied reports that she owned part of the ranch.

"Rex and Earl bought the property and are going to stock it with the finest cattle available," Clara said. "Mrs. Simpson and I came up from Hollywood a few days ago. I can take only a short vacation, for I have to start work on a new picture soon."

She said she was riding daily on Andy, a black cow pony.

This visit is the first Miss Bow has made to Nevada since her widely publicized gambling expedition at Calneva in the northern part of the state.

At that time she stopped payment on checks totalling more than $10,000. The checks were given for gambling losses.

MRS. CORDELL JESSEN TO RAISE FUND TO AID LEO BROTHERS

St. Louis, April 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Cordell Jessen, mother of Leo Brothers, convicted slayer of Alfred Lingle, was home today from Chicago, prepared to sponsor a "public subscription campaign" designed to aid in further defense of her son.

Mrs. Jessen said the fund will be used to push an appeal for Brothers in event a new trial motion is not granted.

"I understood from Chicago friends that Al Capone is ready to help us," she said. "Moreover, Leo has many friends and well wishers among the public of St. Louis."

CLIMBED EVANSTON TREE TO SPY OUT LAY OF LAND IN CHICAGO

Evanston, Ill., April 7.—(UP)—Clyde O. Genter, Scottville, Mich., climbed down today from a tree in Dr. Frank O. Beck's yard, divested himself of a pair of binoculars, a shotgun and a .45 calibre revolver, and explained.

He came down because Sergeant Frank O. Henke was standing beneath in response to a summons from Dr. Beck.

Clyde showed Sergeant Henke a note signed by "Big Joe Saltis," the ex-Chicago beer baron who now is the resort king of Winter, Wis. The note read:

"Chief Alcock of Chicago: 'Kindly conduct the bearer safely through Chicago.'"

"Big Joe Saltis."

"I got it while I was working up at Winter," Clyde said.

"I had to go through Chicago to get back home and wanted protection. I climbed this tree to spy out the lay of the land. I didn't want the gangsters to see me first."

REPORTS OF FEDERAL FARM BOARD PASSING OUT ARE DENIED

Chicago, April 7.—(UP)—Reports that the Federal Farm board might pass out of existence are "premature," believes Alexander H. Legge, who resigned recently as chairman of the board to become president of the International Harvester company.

While Legge was speaking last night to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Farmers' National Grain corporation, affiliated with the farm board, issued a report showing that its net profits from operations for the fiscal year ending Feb. 28 were $666,266.84.

"I have been called a rat deserting a sinking ship, but I'm not a rat and the ship is not sinking," declared Legge.

"If anybody is contemplating sending flowers to the farm board's funeral, he will have to live a long time," Legge predicted business would "continue to stagnate" until farmers recover from their present plight and become consumers "in a big way."

Scenes in Quake-Ruined Managua

Dreadful pictures of the calamity which has overtaken the city of Managua, Nicaragua, devastated by earthquake and fire, are being reported. Latest reports indicate a death toll of more than 1,000, among whom are many Americans. Property damage has been placed at more than $40,000,000. It is feared that the entire city will have to be rebuilt. The affected area is patrolled by United States Marines, pictured above outside their barracks in a part of the city where the shock was most severe.

MODERN STYLE TO CHANGE COLOR OF HAIR FREQUENTLY

Chicago, April 7.—(UP)—Men this year may prefer blondes if they wish, and if they don't wish, they may select girls with purple, gold or platinum colored hair, according to an announcement by Max Hofer, president of the State Hairdressers' association.

The style this year, Hofer said, will be to change the color of the hair frequently and purple will be a favorite.

The changing is done, he explained, by spraying the hair and then fixing it with bronze powder.

"The powder is non-injurious to scalp or hair and can be removed the next day," he said. "The face will be rouged and the finger nails polished to match the color of hair and dress."

Wigs, Hofer said, are out of favor, and the coloring process will be used widely. It is not altogether a new thing, he said, for even back in the day of King Solomon women colored their hair blue or gold.

Just a Hired Man

THE Franklin Tribune tells the story of a man who was really more than "just a hired man."

In 1917, Ed O. Peterson of Canby had in his employ a ragged and tattered farm hand who, in his spare moments, would walk to town and get books from the Canby public library.

Recently two sons of Mr. Peterson in studying a textbook on social science in the Canby high school, noticed that the author bore the familiar name of Thomas Ross Williamson, and upon questioning their parents, it was recalled that this was the name of their unusual hired man back in 1917. One of the boys at once wrote a letter to Mr. Williamson, asking the publisher of the book to forward it to him. A reply came to him recently from Rome, Italy, from Mr. Williamson, in which he admits he is the same "hired man." Thomas Ross Williamson is not only a noted author but is also a versatile linguist, being master of seven languages. His textbook used in the Canby high school is a complete study of economic sociology and civics. His newest book is not a textbook, but a story book for boys and girls, called "The Flood Fighters" and is a tale of the Mississippi in flood times, with its setting at Bemidji.

Cleanup Week

MAYOR S. F. SNIVELY of Duluth has declared this week to be known as "Cleanup Week." Debris accumulated during the winter will be cleaned up and many residents will paint up their houses and buildings.

Competent men to help with cleaning and painting operations will be furnished through Duluth's free employment bureau.

Brainerd may well start its "Cleanup Week" too and owing to the magnitude of operations may extend the period. The bureau which registered men for winter work should get a new list of men who wish spring work.

One of the biggest jobs in Brainerd will be rejuvenation of lawns which were touched by drought conditions of last summer. Fresh dirt and new fertilizer may have to be used on some to restore them.

Many houses require painting, interior and exterior. The usual accumulation of backyard ashes and tin cans cries for removal.

The city has started the good work of cleaning up its share, streets and alleys of the city, and their work is to be commended.

A New Quarter

WITHIN the next few days Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, will invite prominent artists throughout the country to submit designs for the new quarter dollar which will be issued next year as part of the nation-wide celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington.

This will be the first United States coin of regular issue to bear the image of Washington. It is authorized by legislation enacted just before the adjournment of Congress.

The portrait of the First President was used on a few coins made in 1783, but they were not issued or approved by the government. Such approval might have been given but for Washington's modesty which no doubt made him feel that such honors were not for the living.

Although issued to commemorate the bicentary of Washington's birth the quarter will not be a commemorative coin in the true sense of the word. It will replace the twenty-five cent piece which has been minted since 1916 as a coin of regular issue, and as such will be circulated at face value.

Constructive Work

MEMBERS of the Owatonna Izaak Walton League chapter have adopted a program including six projects for this year.

These include operation of the bass propagation pond in Morehouse park for the first time; propagation of crappies to stock lakes and streams in Steele and nearby counties with the cooperation of the state game and fish department.

Planting and beautification work of the park areas surrounding the new bass pond; construction and placing of numerous bird houses; planting of game in various parts of the county; sponsoring of a spring crow shoot and laying out aquatic feeds in duck lakes of the area.

Good Time to Build Now

It is a very good time to build now. The price of all building material is at a very reasonable figure. Very good terms can be arranged. Brainerd has a local building and loan association which can materially aid a householder in financing new building or improvements.

Skilled and unskilled labor will soon be in demand. It behooves a householder to get his building program under way. By so doing he will aid himself as well as giving employment to many in the community.

THE Brainerd high school basketball 25th district tournament was high record mark in attendance and receipts for the whole state of Minnesota. The regional was also, so far as reports were in Friday, the highest in attendance and receipts in the state. And that is a very good mark for Brainerd, attesting to the completeness of arrangements made here.

JUNE will soon be here with its graduation days and prudent people are making their gift purchases early. It is a custom to remember the graduates with appropriate gifts.

WARM, sunshiny days of April will soon cause the lake ice to break up. Snow is thawing on the smaller country roads and many lake roads.

Cider Production

The first run of cider is made in Virginia in September, but the largest production comes in October. The best cider apples are Black Twig, York and Ben Davis. Cider can be bought on the market during the entire year, but the heavy production comes in October, November and December. The largest cider mill in the world is at Winchester, Va.

Introduction of Bananas

An old historical account says that bananas were introduced into America from the Canary islands in 1516.

But It Must Be High

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER XLVII.

AN old sick woman... that was the way she looked when she held the mirror close to the window and the bright, clear light betrayed every wrinkle, every blemish, every fold of puffy, sagging skin. The bright, sport clothes she bought were impossible. The salesgirl must have been secretly laughing at her when she sold them... but they did look different in the store, with the light soft, and her make-up just right... You couldn't do anything with make-up here, the light was too bright, and without maid.

Anita sighed, and wiped off the rouge she had tried, experimentally. Little jars and boxes of cream and powder littered the dresser, exquisite silken things were flung carelessly over chairs. It was past dinner time, and Jack would be waiting irritably, trying to control his impatience, trying to be nice to her... perhaps secretly ashamed... "I look like his mother, not his wife!" she cried miserably, staring at her ragged face, her poor, broken, bleached hair. The slow tears streaked the powder, undid her patient work. She flung herself on the narrow bed, and wept.

A Mistake.

"Maybe it was a mistake after all," she told him, late that night. "Wouldn't you rather go somewhere where there's a golf course, dear? Del Monte, or Coronado?"

He stared at her, hands thrust deep into the pockets of his old Norfolk jacket—(nobody dressed for dinner here in the mountains)—powerful legs in whipcord breeches and high laced boots, wide apart. "So that's it," he said at last. "Want to get back to your specialist and the smelling salts, eh? Well, I'm not surprised. I knew it. I knew perfectly well that you'd weaken once you got here. It was your idea, wasn't it? Not mine!"

"But I was only thinking of you, dear!"

"Of me!" he snorted. "Of me! That is good!"

"Yes, you aren't yourself, dear. You're so nervous..."

"I? Nervous! Heavens!"

"I mean, you seem to be worrying so over me. I know you think I'm not well enough to take the trip, but I really feel fine. Truly I do. So I just thought, if you had a golf course, and I could run into a few people I knew..."

She stopped when she saw his face, heard his mumbled oath.

"Well, then let's take a long trip tomorrow!" she cried brightly. "We'll start early, and take horses and our lunch... won't that be fun... and go off to that new camp, and stay over night..."

He interrupted viciously. "Oh, why do you talk like that? You know you won't go! Afraid of a horse, afraid of a hill, afraid of your own shadow—I'll go alone!"

"Have I wavered once since I've been here? Have I even asked for a helping hand?"

"Oh, you didn't say anything—but I'm expecting you to flop on me any minute!"

Which was not strictly true. Anita's strange vitality had been as unexpected as it was baffling. He had walked her over rocky trails that even tired him. He had ridden with her on narrow ledges, overlooking terrifying chasms. He had climbed to gray pinnacles of slippery rock. And she had followed close at his heels, panting, that she begrudged Nancy the money she had given her to buy her freedom... poor child.

Grandma wiped her spectacles. So much trouble in the world. Thank goodness that Louise was happy, and surely life would give Nancy another chance, Nancy who was so young, so pretty, so unhappy now.

If only she knew more about business! It was so confusing, with all those meaningless words, and first parties, and second parties, and wherebys and wherewiths, and the big red seals.

Good News.

She had not been sleeping very well. The strange phrases swam under her eyes, her eyes closed, her head nodded. She slept, with the yellowed papers scattered about.

Nancy read Louise's letter to papa.

"We've being very grand, with liveried servants, and lots of long cold halls, hung with art treasures that nobody pays the least attention to. The place is full of doctors and newspaper reporters all the time, but Mr. Tully is going to get well, and that is a great load off Mat's mind. He feels a little sheepish, poor dear, at having masqueraded as the poor student out here. But mama will be disappointed to hear that he dresses just as badly as ever. However, I'm making up for him. I've been shopping with Anne Rinderneck. Mat's cousin, and I have a perfectly huge allowance, enough for some lovely things for mama and Nancy and I'm not forgetting Grandma. And tell papa not to worry about the bank and Mr. Lachman, because Mat says we can take care of everything. It really is nice to be rich, but I'm just the least bit homesick, and will be glad when we come back. Dearest love to all. Tell papa Mat is forwarding a check.

"Pretty nice, isn't it?" Nancy asked lightly, crumpling the scribbled sheet, forgetting she ought to save it for mama.

"Yes, pretty nice," papa echoed weakly. And he shut his eyes and pretended to doze. For he was heartsick. He didn't want Matthew Tully's money. He didn't want anybody's help. He just wanted to get well and take care of his own family.

Just a Hired Man

THE Franklin Tribune tells the story of a man who was really more than "just a hired man."

In 1917, Ed O. Peterson of Canby had in his employ a ragged and tattered farm hand who, in his spare moments, would walk to town and get books from the Canby public library.

Recently two sons of Mr. Peterson in studying a textbook on social science in the Canby high school, noticed that the author bore the familiar name of Thames Ross Williamson, and upon questioning their parents, it was recalled that this was the name of their unusual hired man back in 1917. One of the boys at once wrote a letter to Mr. Williamson, asking the publisher of the book to forward it to him. A reply came to him recently from Rome, Italy, from Mr. Williamson, in which he admits he is the same "hired man." Thames Ross Williamson is not only a noted author but is also a versatile linguist, being master of seven languages. His textbook used in the Canby high school is a complete study of economic sociology and civics. His newest book is not a textbook, but a story book for boys and girls, called "The Flood Fighters" and is a tale of the Mississippi in flood times, with its setting at Bemidji.

Cleanup Week

MAYOR S. F. SNIVELY of Duluth has declared this week to be known as "Cleanup Week." Debris accumulated during the winter will be cleaned up and many residents will paint up their houses and buildings.

Competent men to help with cleaning and painting operations will be furnished through Duluth's free employment bureau.

Brainerd may well start its "Cleanup Week" too and owing to the magnitude of operations may extend the period. The bureaus which registered men for winter work should get a new list of men who wish spring work.

One of the biggest jobs in Brainerd will be rejuvenation of lawns which were touched by drought conditions of last summer. Fresh dirt and new fertilizer may have to be used on some to restore them.

Many houses require painting, interior and exterior. The usual accumulation of backyard ashes and tin cans cries for removal.

The city has started the good work of cleaning up its share, streets and alleys of the city, and their work is to be commended.

A New Quarter

WITHIN the next few days Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, will invite prominent artists throughout the country to submit designs for the new quarter dollar which will be issued next year as part of the nation-wide celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington.

This will be the first United States coin of regular issue to bear the image of Washington. It is authorized by legislation enacted just before the adjournment of Congress.

The portrait of the First President was used on a few coins made in 1783, but they were not issued or approved by the government. Such approval might have been given but for Washington's modesty which no doubt made him feel that such honors were not for the living.

Although issued to commemorate the bicentury of Washington's birth the quarter will not be a commemorative coin in the true sense of the word. It will replace the twenty-five cent piece which has been minted since 1916 as a coin of regular issue, and as such will be circulated at face value.

Constructive Work

MEMBERS of the Owatonna Izaak Walton League chapter have adopted a program including six projects for this year.

These include operation of the bass propagation pond in Morehouse park for the first time; propagation of crappies to stock lakes and streams in Steele and nearby counties with the cooperation of the state game and fish department.

Planting and beautification work of the park areas surrounding the new bass pond; construction and placing of numerous bird houses; planting of game in various parts of the county; sponsoring of a spring crowd shoot and laying out aquatic feeds in duck lakes of the area.

Good Time to Build Now

It is a very good time to build now. The price of all building material is at a very reasonable figure. Very good terms can be arranged. Brainerd has a local building and loan association which can materially aid a householder in financing new building or improvements.

Skilled and unskilled labor will soon be in demand. It behooves a householder to get his building program under way. By so doing he will aid himself as well as giving employment to many in the community.

THE Brainerd high school basketball 25th district tournament was high record mark in attendance and receipts for the whole state of Minnesota. The regional was also, so far as reports were in Friday, the highest in attendance and receipts in the state. And that is a very good mark for Brainerd, attesting to the completeness of arrangements made here.

JUNE will soon be here with its graduation days and prudent people are making their gift purchases early. It is a custom to remember the graduates with appropriate gifts.

WARM, sunshiny days of April will soon cause the lake ice to break up. Snow is thawing on the smaller country roads and many lake roads.

Cider Production

The first run of cider is made in Virginia in September, but the largest production comes in October. The best cider apples are Black Twig, York and Ben Davis. Cider can be bought on the market during the entire year, but the heavy production comes in October, November and December. The largest cider mill in the world is at Winchester, Va.

Introduction of Bananas

An old historical account says that bananas were introduced into America from the Canary islands in 1515.

But It Must Be High

lowed close at his heels, panting, the obstinate. Determined not to give in. Sometimes he really doubted that her heart was bad. He yanked at the strap of his wrist watch, scowling at it, pretending to punch a new hole. For two pins he'd give up. Leave her. Let her keep her money. Light out somewhere with Nancy, go to work...

Down came her fist on the dresser, making the enamel topped bottles jump. "Jack Beamer, you aren't being fair to me! I—I think you're awfully unkind. I'm going tomorrow, whether you want me or not. I'll show you. I'll go anywhere you'll go. I'll go if it kills me!"

"Is that any way to talk?" he asked huskily, eyes still on the troublesome strap. "No, but you told me—you make me say things I don't mean... Oh, Jack, dear, can't you see I love you? That I'm just trying to win you again—to keep you from that other girl... oh, my dear, my dear—" Sobs choked her. Her clinging arms went around his rigid shoulders. She cried loudly, uncontrollably, like a lost child.

"There, there." He soothed her woodenly. When he could escape from her moist embrace he went to the desk in the office, and ordered horses and lunch for the following day.

No Fascination.

The pretty college girl who was working there for the summer, tried in vain to make him talk. He had nothing to say, and he looked almost as old and haggard as his wife. "I certainly don't see anything fascinating about HIM!" she told her chum when they went to bed. "My word, he must be a hundred and ten!"

Grandma Hollenbeck sat in the kitchen, silver rimmed glasses on her nose, a black tin box open on the table before her. She read one yellowed paper after another, refolded it, put it away.

Kitty was out, calling on Aunt Ellie Watson as usual. Grandma was glad of that. A weight seemed to be lifted off her chest when her daughter-in-law was away. There had been so many scenes, so much unhappiness, she envied folks who could buy their way into nice, sunny old people's homes... not that she begrudged Nancy the money she had given her to buy her freedom... poor child.

Grandma wiped her spectacles. So much trouble in the world. Thank goodness that Louise was happy, and surely life would give Nancy another chance, Nancy who was so young, so pretty, so unhappy now.

If only she knew more about business! It was so confusing, with all those meaningless words, and first parties, and second parties, and wherebys and wherewiths, and the big red seals.

He feels a little sheepish, poor dear, at having masqueraded as the poor student out here. But mama will be disappointed to hear that he dresses just as badly as ever. However, I'm making up for him. I've been shopping with Anne Rinderneck. Mat's cousin, and I have a perfectly huge allowance, enough for some lovely things for mama and Nancy and I'm not forgetting Grandma. And tell papa not to worry about the bank and Mr. Lachman, because Mat says we can take care of everything. It really is nice to be rich, but I'm just the least bit homesick, and will be glad when we come back. Dearest love to all. Tell papa Mat is 'forwarding' a check.

"LOU."

"Pretty nice, isn't it?" Nancy asked lightly, crumpling the scribbled sheet, forgetting she ought to save it for mama.

"Yes, pretty nice," papa echoed weakly. And he shut his eyes and pretended to doze. For he was heartsick. He didn't want Matthew Tully's money. He didn't want anybody's help. He just wanted to get well and take care of his own family.

Low within the grave our Lord was laid

When evening Star was high

With myrrh and aloes they swathed Him round,

With the rich in death they laid Him down.

And for a seal a stone

Shadows deepen gloom.

Life cannot rest in peace within a grave,

Roses spring to welcome light;

The Soul is not content within a cave.

Stars are bright in night darkest.

Up from the grave our Lord arose

When morning star was high;

Death His kingly form held not within

The narrow cloistered cell nor could Sin

Pollute with guilt His soul;

Advocates of Better Homes Campaign for County Map Plans for This Year

A Better Homes Campaign for Crow Wing county was inaugurated at an enthusiastic meeting with more than 50 representatives from all parts of the county present at a meeting in the farmers' room, court house, Saturday afternoon.

Representatives from the various townships present outlined a particular project that they are going to emphasize in their township this year.

As for example: Gilbert Lake, beautifying the school grounds; Nokay Lake, fruit gardens; Mission, landscape gardening; Dykeman, porches, lawns, and backyards.

Roth outlined the plans for the campaign, which included certain phases to be given special attention in each township, the organizing of local groups to carry on the work in each township, planning of a tour and picnic in the fall, to visit those farms showing the best results along this improvement work during the summer.

A. P. Cardie of Brainerd gave a discussion on how to beautify the farmstead by planting spruce tree drive-ways, or by arranging and painting of rocks, starting flower beds of peonies, gladiolas, and improvement of lawns.

Homer Wells of Dean Lake township gave a short discussion on how to transplant pine trees by never allowing a root to be exposed in the air even for a moment.

Miss Ada Wunderlich, county home chairman, announced a flower exchange meeting which is set for the farmers' room, court house, Brainerd, at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, April 25 asking all those interested in the county to bring seeds and flowers for exchange at this time.

PALACE THEATER GIVEN LICENSE

President of Council Opposes License Until Construction Labor Bills Are Paid

BUILDING NOW COMPLETE

Meets With Requirements; Thompson, Yilek Get Oil Station Licenses

The Palace theatre at 708 Front street was granted a license to operate for a year by the city council last evening by the vote of seven to two after an argument occurred between V. E. Quansstrom, president of the council and S. Gruesner who applied for the license as the Grand Avenue Holding Co.

Quansstrom charged that Gruesner did not pay the city scale of wages for laborers, 50 cents an hour, when the building was under construction and further held that there were still bills outstanding for labor.

One carpenter was present who said he had $73 coming for labor.

Quansstrom voted against the permit to operate until all bills are paid. Elmer Lee also opposed the license on the same grounds.

Christ Elvig voted in favor of the license with the understanding that the bills for labor would be paid.

"We should not grant the license until the bills are paid. I was elected to this council on the labor ticket and I am going to stay on the labor ticket," Quansstrom said.

City Engineer R. T. Campbell and Fire Chief Frank Fuller said that the building with a few minor exceptions met with the approval of the building and fire ordinances.

On the vote V. F. Anderson, Harry W. Greger, Christ Elvig, W. J. Hall, F. B. Johnson, W. J. Lyons and Ernest Ritari were in favor. Lee and Quansstrom opposed it.

Gruesner said that the theatre was now complete and that it would open to the public in a short time.

The council voted down the request of John C. Thompson to construct a gasoline bulk storage station on the N. P. right of way at the northeast corner of Block 8 being south of Main street and west of Fourth street North.

Rejection of the permit came after Aldermen Hall and Johnson stated that the people of that locality were opposed to a bulk storage station there. Frank Hall also spoke for residents, saying they were opposed to it.

Later in the evening Thompson made a new request that he be permitted to construct a bulk storage station on the east half of block 22 on Main street between 10th and 11th streets. This request was granted.

Fred Yilek was granted a permit to construct a filling station at Laurel and First streets.

R. W. Brecht was licensed to operate a pop corn wagon for the year. He tendered a check for $50. M. Markus renewed his junk dealer's license to operate at 402 Front street.

Swan Peterson, Mrs. Hulda Peterson, Wm. Lasher and Robert Hele were granted licenses to sell milk and cream.

Purchase of a $40 culvert was ordered for St. Louis avenue between 12th and 13th streets South.

On motion of Elvig and Ritari a vote of thanks was extended to the City Water and Light Department for donating and installing the electric light fixtures at the Northeast Community Hall. The hall has received the popular name in the council of "Elvig's Hall" because of Elvig's efforts in securing the building for Northeast.

Engineer Campbell was instructed to furnish the council with an estimate of the costs of grading and curbing of North First street.

Homer Wells of Dean Lake township gave a short discussion on how to transplant pine trees by never allowing a root to be exposed in the air even for a moment.

Miss Ada Wunderlich, county home chairman, announced a flower exchange meeting which is set for the farmers' room, court house, Brainerd, at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, April 25 asking all those interested in the county to bring seeds and flowers for exchange at this time.

PALACE THEATER GIVEN LICENSE

President of Council Opposes License Until Construction Labor Bills Are Paid

BUILDING NOW COMPLETE

Meets With Requirements; Thompson, Yilek Get Oil Station Licenses

The Palace theatre at 708 Front street was granted a license to operate for a year by the city council last evening by the vote of seven to two after an argument occurred between V. E. Quansstrom, president of the council and S. Gruesner who applied for the license as the Grand Avenue Holding Co.

Quansstrom charged that Gruesner did not pay the city scale of wages for laborers, 50 cents an hour, when the building was under construction and further held that there were still bills outstanding for labor.

One carpenter was present who said he had $73 coming for labor.

Quansstrom voted against the permit to operate until all bills are paid. Elmer Lee also opposed the license on the same grounds.

Christ Elvig voted in favor of the license with the understanding that the bills for labor would be paid.

"We should not grant the license until the bills are paid. I was elected to this council on the labor ticket and I am going to stay on the labor ticket," Quansstrom said.

City Engineer R. T. Campbell and Fire Chief Frank Fuller said that the building with a few minor exceptions met with the approval of the building and fire ordinances.

On the vote V. E. Anderson, Harry W. Greger, Christ Elvig, W. J. Hall, F. B. Johnson, W. J. Lyons and Ernest Ritari were in favor. Lee and Quansstrom opposed it.

Gruesner said that the theatre was now complete and that it would open to the public in a short time.

The council voted down the request of John C. Thompson to construct a gasoline bulk storage station on the N. P. right of way at the northeast corner of Block 8 being south of Main street and west of Fourth street North.

Rejection of the permit came after Aldermen Hall and Johnson stated that the people of that locality were opposed to a bulk storage station there. Frank Hall also spoke for residents, saying they were opposed to it.

Later in the evening Thompson made a new request that he be permitted to construct a bulk storage station on the east half of block 22 on Main street between 10th and 11th streets. This request was granted.

Fred Yilek was granted a permit to construct a filling station at Laurel and First streets.

R. W. Brecht was licensed to operate a pop corn wagon for the year. He tendered a check for $50. M. Markus renewed his junk dealer's license to operate at 402 Front street.

Swan Peterson, Mrs. Hulda Peterson, Wm. Lasher and Robert Hele were granted licenses to sell milk and cream.

Purchase of a $40 culvert was ordered for St. Louis avenue between 12th and 13th streets South.

On motion of Elvig and Ritari a vote of thanks was extended to the City Water and Light Department for donating and installing the electric light fixtures at the Northeast Community Hall. The hall has received the popular name in the council of "Elvig's Hall" because of Elvig's efforts in securing the building for Northeast.

Engineer Campbell was instructed to furnish the council with an estimate of the costs of grading and curbing of North First street.

What Is a Boy Scout? This Series Explains

Art you a boy? Were you a boy? Have you a boy?

If you belong to any of these classes you will be very much interested in the Boy Scouts of America. Facts concerning this great movement will be presented in the Brainerd Daily Dispatch during the next few weeks.

A Boy's Program

Boys are just naturally good. They also, just naturally, want to be active and busy. The Boy Scout movement is "boy all over." It takes the original instinct of the boy to be busy and supplies the things to keep him busy.

It gives the boy all the liberty compatible with developing true manhood. It utilizes the things that boys want to do. It is built from the ground up on the constructive basis. The boy is shown the "why" of the things he does. Scouting is doing things, not a lecture course in "what to do." There are practically no deserters among the boys who once join, if proper leadership is provided to keep them in the movement.

Non-Sectarian

Recognition of God and service to Him are fundamental in scouting, but the movement is without any sectarian bias. It is approved and adopted by all the major denominations and creeds. Wherever practicable troops are organized in connection with churches of all denominations, and the scoutmaster is selected from that church to have charge of the troop. No boy is trained away from the thought of his own religious environment.

Non-Militaristic

The question is often asked as to whether the Boy Scout movement gives military training. The answer is a decided "no." But there are certain things as essential to civic uprightness and moral integrity as they are to military discipline which are taught. Scouts do not carry guns nor are they taught tactics distinctly military in character.

Brainerd's Opportunity

Brainerd now has four active troops under very fine leadership. There are approximately 60 scouts registered. Brainerd should have ten troops with about 200 scouts. But it takes volunteer leadership to put across scouting. Let's get behind this movement and put it over.

We have our conservation programs to save our forests, our rivers, and our lakes; and rightly so. We must conserve our natural resources as much as we can. What about our boys?

This is the first of a series of articles on scouting which will appear in the Brainerd Daily Dispatch. Other articles will follow at regular intervals. Any one wishing to ask questions pertaining to scouting can send the letters to the chairman of the Brainerd scout committee or to the scout executive at St. Cloud. S. R. Adair is the local chairman.

HELENE MADISON BREAKS MORE RECORDS

SEATTLE GIRL SWIMS 50 YARDS IN 27.1 SECONDS

THEN TEAMS WITH 3 OTHER GIRLS, BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD FOR 400-YD. RELAY

ANOTHER OUTSTANDING PERFORMER AT MILL CITY IS GEORGIA COLMAN, 19

Minneapolis, Minn., April 7.—(U.P.)—Helene Madison, 17-year-old girl swimming marvel of Seattle, Wash., shattered her 31st world's record last night when she swam 50 yards in 27.1 in an exhibition at the Minneapolis Athletic Club pool.

Not content with establishing one record, the Seattle girl took a few minutes' rest and then teamed up with three other Pacific coast girl swimmers and reduced by .25 the world's record for the 400-yard relay.

The former record for the 50-yard event was 27.3, held by Ethel Lackie. The new time set in the relay race was 4.274, compared with the old record of 4.299.

Another outstanding performance on the program was an exhibition by Georgia Colman, 19, of Los Angeles, national 10-foot diving champion for two years.

The swimmers who participated in the record-breaking 400-yard relay and their times for 100 yards were: Miss Madison, 1:01.2; Lucy Shact, 1:09; Dawn Gilson, 1:09.4; Edna McKibben, 1:05.1. Miss Madison's time in her section of the relay equals the world record for women swimmers at 100 yards.

Lowell Marsh, national intercollegiate backstroke champion, attempted to break his own 100-yard record of 1:02, but was unable to do better than 1:03.5. Other exhibitions were given by Miss Gilson in the 100-yard backstroke; Miss Madison in the 50-yard free style; Miss Shact and Miss Gilson in the 320-yard free style.

CARROLL BLAIR FREED AND THEN IS RE-ARRESTED

Milwaukee, Wis., April 7.—(U.P.)—Carroll Blair, alias Fred Bassett, communist candidate for governor of Wisconsin last fall and a former University of Wisconsin student, was freed today and immediately re-arrested.

His one-year term for rioting in an unemployment demonstration was commuted by Governor Phillip F. La Follette this morning.

Blair was leaving the Milwaukee house of correction when he was taken into custody on the complaint of Dan Kugler, retired police sergeant, who accused Blair of striking him during the outbreak. Blair was taken to the city jail and will be arraigned tomorrow.

The riot which resulted in Blair's sentence occurred in Haymarket square on March 6, 1930. After he was placed in the house of correction he became communist candidate for governor, running against the progressive republican, La Follette, who ordered him freed.

ASSURED OF PLENTY ACTIVITY DURING SEASON

SHARKEY IS CONSIDERED FOR FIGHTS WITH CARNERA, WALKER, LOUGHAN

CARNERA VS. CAMPOLO CONSIDERED GREATEST "NATURAL" SINCE DEMPSEY-FIRPO

By DIXON STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 7.—Jack Sharkey, who four months ago was considered definitely out of the heavyweight landscape for at least two years, today would seem to be the "key" man of the heavyweight situation.

Many were the "sob" stories penned concerning Sharkey when contracts featuring Schmeling, Stribling and Carnera were signed—sob stories relating how unfair it was to force the Boston sailor into temporary and possibly permanent retirement.

Yet today Sharkey must be considered in at least half of the possible big outdoor bouts. Unless the Bostonian continues his policy of "splendid isolation," refusing to engage in anything save titular bouts, he can find plenty of activity this summer.

The bouts available for the 1931 summer season and their status are: Schmeling-vs. Stribling—fighters under contract to Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois, which is experiencing difficulty in finding a site for the contest. Probably will be staged at Cleveland, July 3, despite the New York milk fund's withdrawal.

Sharkey vs. Carnera—James J. Johnston, independent New York promoter, claims to have Sharkey under contract for the bout. Carnera still under suspension in New York for engaging in an allegedly "fixed" bout in California last year.

Sharkey vs. Walker—Damon Runyan is endeavoring to make this one for the milk fund. Has Walker lined up and hopes to secure Sharkey, who made most of his fortune in milk fund bouts.

Sharkey vs. Loughran—Madison Square Garden, Johnston and Chicago Stadium are bidding for the bout. Johnston claims to have Sharkey's promise while Loughran is reported under contract to fight exclusively for Madison Square Garden.

Schmeling or Stribling vs. Carnera—contracts signed when the Stribling-Schmeling bout was made, with the winner agreeing to meet Carnera in September. Carnera now reported ready to break the contract if reinstated in New York and given a chance to meet Sharkey.

Loughran vs. Campolo—Matchmaker Tom McCordie of Madison Square Garden says he has this one "in the bag."

Carnera vs. Campolo—the greatest "natural" since Dempsey and Firpo. Frequently discussed but as yet no promoter has made advances, although the battle between the two inexperienced giants would be certain to pack any stadium.

BOSTON BRAVES WILL NEED A 'MIRACLE TEAM'

SUCH AS THAT OF 1914 TO PLACE BETTER THAN 6TH IN PEN-NANT CHASE

BRAVES FACED WITH TERRIFIC COMPETITION, PITCHING NO BETTER THAN ORDINARY

This is the fourteenth of a series dealing with 1931 prospects of the various major league baseball clubs.

By HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 7.—Although they have added more potential strength than any club in the league, the Boston Braves will need another "miracle" team such as that of 1914 to finish better than sixth in the coming National League pennant chase.

This is true for two reasons. First, the Braves are faced with terrific competition for the Cubs, Cards, Giants, Robins and Pirates, and second, the Braves' pitching staff is no better than ordinary.

Pitching was one of the Braves' strongest departments in 1930, when they finished sixth, 22 games behind the winning Cards, but the sale of Bob Smith to the Cubs weakened the staff considerably.

McKechnie still is undecided regarding his starting lineup but is expected to open the championship season as follows:

Wilson or Chatham, 3b; Maranville, ss; Worthington, if; Berger, cf; Richbourg or Schulmerich, if; Sheely, 1b; Maguire, 2b; Spohrer, c.

Sherdel, Frankhouse, Haid, Cantwell, Cunningham, McAfee, Leheny, Zachary, Brandt and Seibold are expected to carry the pitching burden. This is a mound staff of more quantity than quality.

Addition of Worthington and Schulmerich as running mates for the slugger Berger gives the Braves a heavy-hitting outfield.

Maranville and Maguire comprise an efficient but light-hitting keystone combination. Earl Sheely, former White Sox and Pirates slugger, will cover first.

Conditions at third are uncertain. Wilson, a star with Rochester, has failed to live up to expectations and Chatham is likely to retain his post.

Al Boal, former Pirate, also has been a disappointment and must improve considerably to convince Manager McKechnie his presence is an asset. Spohrer is slated to retain the first string catching duties, despite his weakness at the plate, with Cronin as his substitute.

HELENE MADISON BREAKS MORE RECORDS

SEATTLE GIRL SWIMS 50 YARDS IN 27.1 SECONDS

THEN TEAMS WITH 3 OTHER GIRLS, BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD FOR 400-YD. RELAY

ANOTHER OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE AT MILL CITY IS GEORGIA COLMAN, 19

Minneapolis, Minn., April 7.—(UP)—Helene Madison, 17-year-old girl swimmer of Seattle, Wash., shattered her 31st world's record last night when she swam 50 yards in 27.1 in an exhibition at the Minneapolis Athletic Club pool.

Not content with establishing one record, the Seattle girl took a few minutes' rest and then teamed up with three other Pacific coast girl swimmers and reduced by .25 the world's record for the 400-yard relay.

The former record for the 50-yard event was .273, held by Ethel Lackie. The new time set in the relay race was 4:27.4, compared with the old record of 4:29.9.

Another outstanding performance on the program was an exhibition by Georgia Colman, 19, of Los Angeles, national 10-foot diving champion for two years.

The swimmers who participated in the record-breaking 400-yard relay and their times for 100 yards were: Miss Madison, 1:01.2; Lucy Shact, 1:09; Dawn Gilson, 1:09.4; Edna McKibbin, 1:05.1. Miss Madison's time in her section of the relay equals the world record for women swimmers at 100 yards.

Lowell Marsh, national intercollegiate backstroke champion, attempted to break his own 100-yard record of 1:02, but was unable to do better than 1:03.5. Other exhibitions were given by Miss Gilson in the 100-yard backstroke; Miss Madison in the 50-yard free style; Miss Shact and Miss Gilson in the 820-yard free style.

CARROLL BLAIR FREED AND THEN IS RE-ARRESTED

Milwaukee, Wis., April 7.—(UP)—Carroll Blair, alias Fred Bassett, communist candidate for governor of Wisconsin last fall and a former University of Wisconsin student, was freed today and immediately re-arrested.

His one-year term for rioting in an unemployment demonstration was commuted by Governor Philip F. La Follette this morning.

Blair was leaving the Milwaukee house of correction when he was taken into custody on the complaint of Dan Kugler, retired police sergeant, who accused Blair of striking him during the outbreak. Blair was taken to the city jail and will be arraigned tomorrow.

The riot which resulted in Blair's sentence occurred in Haymarket square on March 6, 1930. After he was placed in the house of correction he became communist candidate for governor, running against the progressive republican, La Follette, who ordered him freed.

Augusta, Ga., April 7.—(UP)—A new spirit of optimism was apparent among the New York Yankees today as they invaded Augusta for an exhibition game. The Yanks showed a smashing attack reminiscent of the Yankees of 1927 in defeating Nashville, 23 to 3, yesterday.

Philadelphia, April 7.—(UP)—Hank MacDonald, rookie pitcher, may be the man needed to aid Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw on the Philadelphia Athletics pitching staff. MacDonald made an impressive showing yesterday in turning back the Phillies, 3 to 2.

Chattanooga, April 7.—(UP)—Fred Marberry's return to form has lessened Manager Walter Johnson's pitching worries. Marberry worked the entire game against Chattanooga yesterday, allowing only five hits, but was defeated, 3 to 2.

ASSURED OF PLENTY ACTIVITY DURING SEASON

SHARKEY IS CONSIDERED FOR FIGHTS WITH CARNERA, WALKER, LOUGHRAN

CARNERA VS. CAMPOLO CONSIDERED GREATEST "NATURAL" SINCE DEMPSEY-FIRPO

By DIXON STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 7.—Jack Sharkey, who four months ago was considered definitely out of the heavyweight landscape for at least two years, today would seem to be the "key" man of the heavyweight situation.

Many were the "sob" stories penned concerning Sharkey when contracts featuring Schmeling, Stribling and Carnera were signed—sob stories relating how unfair it was to force the Boston sailor into temporary and possibly permanent retirement.

Yet today Sharkey must be considered in at least half of the possible big outdoor bouts. Unless the Bostonian continues his policy of "splendid isolation," refusing to engage in anything save titular bouts, he can find plenty of activity this summer.

The bouts available for the 1931 summer season and their status are: Schmeling-vs. Stribling—fighters under contract to Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois, which is experiencing difficulty in finding a site for the contest. Probably will be staged at Cleveland, July 3, despite the New York milk fund's withdrawal.

Sharkey vs. Carnera—James J. Johnston, independent New York promoter, claims to have Sharkey under contract for the bout. Carnera still under suspension in New York for engaging in an allegedly "fixed" bout in California last year.

Sharkey vs. Walker—Damon Runyan is endeavoring to make this one for the milk fund. Has Walker lined up and hopes to secure Sharkey, who made most of his fortune in milk fund bouts.

Sharkey vs. Loughran—Madison Square Garden, Johnston and Chicago Stadium are bidding for the bout. Johnston claims to have Sharkey's promise while Loughran is reported under contract to fight exclusively for Madison Square Garden.

Schmeling or Stribling vs. Carnera—contracts signed when the Stribling-Schmeling bout was made, with the winner agreeing to meet Carnera in September. Carnera now reported ready to break the contract if reinstated in New York and given a chance to meet Sharkey.

Loughran vs. Campolo—Matchmaker Tom McCardle of Madison Square Garden says he has this one "in the bag."

Carnera vs. Campolo—the greatest "natural" since Dempsey and Firpo. Frequently discussed but as yet no promoter has made advances, although the battle between the two inexperienced giants would be certain to pack any stadium.
